REPORT OF DENTAL CLINIC

Total Examined by Dr. Hanrahan	297
Total pupils needing correction	235

Total corrections made—(clinic in progress now)

The physical examinations were completed during October by Dr. A. M. Fernald, the school physician.

The estimates of the dental work have been made by Dr. Hanrahan, but the work is not complete at this time, so a full report cannot be made.

The past year has been a busy one. Unfortunately we have had several outbreaks of contagious diseases—whooping cough, and two outbreaks of chicken pox. However, as I write this they have nearly disappeared. The whooping cough ran light with the exception of a few cases, and in many instances, were found difficult to diagnose.

One of the largest pieces of work was accomplished during the months of October, November and December. Last spring, I made application to the State of New Hampshire for Hampton's share of the Federal money allotted to the Child Recovery Program. This amounted to $185.84 and was the third largest amount given to any rural district in the state. This money became available in the Fall and with the kind co-operation of the Exeter Hospital, Dr. Leonard, Dr. Higgins, and Dr. Colby, we were able to have twelve cases of tonsils and adenoids removed. Dr. Proctor of Portsmouth kindly gave his services at greatly reduced rates for the correction of twelve cases of poor vision. The work was carried out in families, who due to financial strain, were not in a position to do it themselves. Many trips to Exeter and Portsmouth had to be made in formulating arrangements, as well as to the various homes of the children considered. I stayed in the hospital operating room with each case. In my opinion, this was a marvelous piece of work for our Federal Government to do. Good health, better scholarships, and better citizenship are the dividends we receive for money spent in the correction of defects.

It is a well-known fact that during this depression personal health has taken the most severe loss, and anything we can do to assist in the correction of a defect of those less fortunate than ourselves should become our responsibility.

The community work increased some over last year, however, the Metropolitan and John Hancock Insurance work showed no particular increase. There were many welfare calls made and the amount of fees collected remained nearly the same as last year.

During the New England Festival of Music, Boy Scout Day and Children's Day, I was on duty at Hampton Beach to assist in caring for any children needing my services.

Several children were taken to the Tuberculosis Clinic in Portsmouth, held under Dr. Kerr. No active disease was found in any child from Hampton.

On June 6 we held a toxoid clinic at the Centre School for innoculation against diphtheria. At this clinic 80 children were immunized.

June 27 was the day of our annual Child Health Conference at the Centre School. This was held under the direction of the State Board of Health, Division of Maternity, Infancy and Child Hygiene, assisted by Miss Florence Clark, myself, and several local helpers.

During the year we have had the Federal free milk to give to the underweights. We were not allowed as much as we had last year but we are very grateful for the forty-five bottles allotted us.

I still have a supply of Cod-Liver Oil to give out to any families needing it. This has been a great help and more have taken advantage of it than last year.

We have conducted the milk and cookie service at the recess periods at school as usual. Hot lunches have been available for a small sum since early in January. Many more children have taken advantage of this service than they did in previous years.

I wish to thank the kind citizens of Hampton for the new car which they voted to my use at the town meeting of last year. I wish them to know that I appreciate their sincere co-operation in my undertakings. I also wish to express my appreciation to the School Department and the Town Officials for their loyalty, consideration, and interest in my work.

Respectfully submitted,

ELIZABETH HILLS HAY, R. N.

LIBRARY REPORT

TRUSTEES' REPORT

Another year has gone by, and the trustees give an account of their stewardship. The year has been one of advance, although nothing dramatic has happened. The equipment of the Library has been increased and the usual number of new books purchased. In the selection of books we endeavor to strike a balance and not give too much preference to any one class. While fiction predominates, as in every public library, juveniles, biography, history, science, poetry, travel, and works of reference, are well represented. The fiction and juveniles come in reinforced bindings, which, while adding to the original cost, greatly prolongs the life of each volume.

In this connection it may not be out of place to urge upon adults and children greater care in the handling of books. The books are purchased with the taxpayers' money, and we want them to last as long as possible. A book is a good friend and should be treated with courtesy. If the hands are soiled when a book is read, the covers and pages become disfigured. Children should be taught to respect books and to treat them carefully. When books are returned to the Library by children, they should be wrapped in paper, especially if the weather is rainy or snowy.

In the reading room there is a good representation of the leading American magazines as well as the latest and most authoritative works of reference. It pleases us to see the school children and pupils of the Academy seated around the tables with these books before them, busy as bees. It may not be generally known that periodicals can be taken from the reading room for home reading, when they have been in the Library two weeks. The librarian will charge them to you as she does books.

Because we close the year with an unexpended balance it may seem to some, on first thought, that the Library is receiving too large an appropriation. But a moment's reflection will convince them that such is not the case. The town's financial year closes January 31. After that the trustees can draw no more money until a week or ten days after town meeting, when the selectmen have borrowed from the bank money "in anticipation of taxes." In other words, there are the expenditures of nearly two months to provide for. To meet these expenditures there should be a balance on hand at the close of the fiscal year of at least three hundred dollars.

While the trustees are naturally gratified at the great advance the Library has made, they have by no means reached their goal. They still see many things ahead which they would like to do. The Library might well be kept open three days a week, instead of two, during the winter months, did funds permit. The basement should be fitted up for the overflow of books and thus relieve the pressure on the stacks in the upper room. Books that are in little demand could be kept in the basement. Indeed, there are about a thousand books there now, mostly reports of various kinds. The public may rest assured that the Library trustees appreciate their responsibility, moral and financial, and will do their best to see that they measure up to that responsibility.

SARAH M. LANE,
OTIS RAYMOND GARLAND.

Twenty-four books have been rebound

The decrease in the circulation this year comes mainly in the adult fiction. This may be accounted for by the fact that there has been more opportunity for work, thus lessening the leisure hours for reading. This is proved by the increased circulation in January and February, when work on some projects was either finished or suspended for a time.

The Library co-operates with the schools in furnishing material for reference work, book reports, magazine articles, etc.

The list of periodicals is as follows:

American Magazine, American Boy, American Girl, Atlantic Monthly, Baseball, Bird Lore, Child Life, Christian Century, Christian Herald, Current History, Delineator, Exeter News Letter, Flower Grower, Fortune, Forum, Good Housekeeping, Hampton Union, Harper's, House and Garden, Hygeia, Life, Literary Digest, Nation, National Geographic, New England Poultryman, New Outlook, News Week, Popular Mechanics, Popular Science, Radioland, Reader's Digest, Review of Reviews, Rural New Yorker, Scientific American, Scribner's, Union Signal.

The following are gift subscriptions:

Christian Science Sentinel.

American Builder, donated by Mr. John A. Janvrin.

National Parent-Teacher Magazine donated by the P. T. A. of Hampton.

We are grateful for these subscriptions and are happy to serve the public through the kindness of the donors.

REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board of Hampton:

I herewith submit to you my annual report as the Superintendent of your schools. Incorporated in it will be the reports and recommendations of the Headmaster of Hampton Academy, the Principal of the Centre School, the Supervisor of Music and the School Nurse. Copies of these reports are on file in the school board office. It will summarize in general the outstanding achievements of the schools of Hampton during the school year from July 1, 1933 to June 30, 1934. In addition some mention will be made of activities during the first half of the current year.

For the first time since 1929 the school report is to be included with the report of the town officers. We hope to secure two results from this arrangement. First, there will be some financial saving in the cost of printing. We believe this is a just reason for the change. More important than this however, is the resulting wider distribution of the reports among the people of the town. The schools are the town's and are of vital concern to each citizen of Hampton.

Too much emphasis has been placed upon the money value of an education. It is probably true that an educated person is worth more in dollars and cents than the same person, uneducated, would have been. The object of education, however, as has been so many times said, is to make a life—not to make a living only. The time has come to teach our children to take their place in the world as true citizens, to have some thought as to the finer things of life and to find their pleasure in the things of real worth. They should be trained to a finer sense of social adjustment with their fellow pupils. They should be taught the usages and customs which have been approved through the years. Modern children sometimes forget the courtesy and graceful unselfishness which has always been considered characteristic of a truly educated man. We now have, in our schools, a course for our ninth grade girls which has for its objective training in these valued virtues. During this year, each pupil is taught something of accepted social procedure, something of the basic rules of conduct, the art of entertaining, of accepting her share of responsibility under trying conditions and, in general, adjusting herself gracefully to her surroundings whatever they may be. Whatever the future holds, of a social or financial nature for these pupils, the principles taught in this course will be of real value.

Civilization must be a process of continual advancement. Change is elemental to progress. No school system can long remain static if it is to train effectively for a changing society. Our task is now the training of children for an unknown social order. Present economic conditions have accelerated the process of change in the political, financial and social fields. The schools must recognize these conditions and adapt their curricula to them. I believe the immediate step to be taken is an increased emphasis on our social science subjects. History and Geography in the grades, as well as in High School must cease to be study of governments and the struggles of rulers and must become a study of peoples. In the Junior and Senior High Schools, such subjects as Biology, Sociology, Group Psychology and Political Science must be made the foundation upon which the course of study is built. After a thorough examination of such a course by the Headmaster of the Academy, I am recommending that the subject of Sociology be introduced at the beginning of the next school year.

The immediate goal of every true teacher is the raising of the scholarship level of her pupils. The degree to which this is accomplished is the measure of the teacher. True and exact instruments must be used to determine the amount of accomplishment, however. We are using in Hampton, several times each year, standardized tests. These are accurate rules, fashioned by expert educators and in use throughout the entire United States. The results of administering these tests vouch for the high standard of work in the Hampton Schools. The names of the teachers responsible for these results, and the subjects they teach follow.

THE JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Eastman: Business Practice, Commercial Geography, General Science, Social Science.

Miss Hopkins: English, Civics, History of Civilization.

Miss Janvrin: Home Economics.

Mr. Sears: Algebra, American Life, Manual Training, Band.

Miss Woods and Miss Whytock: Latin, Mathematics, U. S. History, General Science.

Mrs. Coombs: Music in grades, Chorus, Glee Club, Music Appreciation, Orchestra.

The introduction of a new method of Reading in our first grade has produced a noted improvement in that department. Reading is more than mere word calling. The best reader transfers the thoughts contained in the written page directly to his own thoughts with little conscious recognition of word structure. This is the ideal toward which we are striving in our Reading instruction even in the lowest grades. As these pupils advance from grade to grade, this increased ability in the art of reading will materially benefit their scholarship in all subjects. We believe this is probably the outstanding advance made by the schools of Hampton during the past few years.

The report card is in many cases the only point of contact between the school and the home. It can, at best, give the parent but a meagre idea of the child's relation to his school—his work, his play, his contacts with other pupils, his ever changing attitudes and habits. In an attempt to bring the parent and teacher closer together a new form of card was introduced to our schools this past year. This card includes, in addition to the numerical marks, an analysis of the pupil's difficulities, his special interests and abilities as well as his personal and social characteristics. This form of report has now been in use more than one year. We would be interested to receive parent's comments as to its worth from their point of view.

The growth of Hampton's elementary school has been steady. There are no periods of unexpectedly large enrollment and no decided drops. This growth is shown below:

School year ending June 30	Number of pupils enrolled
1910	134
1915	161
1920	192
1925	204
1930	229
1934	258

This table shows a practical doubling of enrollment in twenty-four years. To this year's elementary list of 258 should be added the list of High School pupils which totaled 67. The enrollment by grades follows:

Grade one	25
Grade two	34
Grade three	30
Grade four	27
Grade five	24
Grade six	26
Grade seven	28
Grade eight	34
Grade nine	30

Our percentage of attendance is 95. This is above the state average and is an added reason for Hampton's high scholastic standing. The per pupil cost of the elementary schools of Hampton during the past year, as determined by the State Department of Education, is $92.68. This is somewhat above the average cost of all elementary schools of New Hampshire but is below the per pupil cost of most of the neighboring towns. It should be understood that this figure includes the yearly debt payments on our building as well as current education costs.

The economic conditions of the past two years have resulted in new and enlarged activities for school authorities. The distribution of free milk to all underweight children in the schools was financed by the federal government and was in charge of the local school nurse. This distribution was made to sixty-five pupils last year and to forty-five this year. The results have been noticeable because of the evident increased vitality of these pupils. The federal government also partially financed hot lunches to such children as were in evident need of this added nourishment. The Principal of the Centre School reports a total of 4927 hot lunches served during a fourteen weeks period. Of these lunches served 3534 were provided free, the money being obtained as gifts from several organizations and individuals outside of the school, from contributions given by the teachers themselves and from the federal government. The government-financed hot lunches were discontinued this year but their value is proven by the large increase in the number of pupils who are now taking advantage of our own service.

The report of the school nurse explains Hampton's share in the benefits of the Child Recovery Program financed by the federal government. We believe this is one of the best investments to which any federal money has been allotted.

Another development of the past two years is a tremendous growth in the establishment of Adult Education Schools. The salaries of the teachers are paid by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, as is a small sum for the expense of materials used. Hampton adult classes with an enrollment of 213 were the third largest group in the state during the past year. This year we are employing one full time teacher and one part time teacher. Inability to secure a commercial teacher has lowered our attendance this year. The interest in these classes is keen and it would seem well to make such work a regular part of our school activities if, at any time, federal funds should be withdrawn.

Hampton Academy is this year introducing a new course, under the direction of the State Board of Education and the State Motor Vehicle Department. This course includes fifteen lessons in safe driving of automobiles. The pupil interest is proven by an enrollment of thirty-six who will study the course and then take the automobile driver's examination given by the Motor Vehicle Commissioner.

This year is the 300th Anniversary of the Public High School in America. Special attention is being given to the celebration of this event. The Academy will build its graduation exercises of next June around this historical event.

The children of Hampton are now developing a healthy interest in athletics. The Junior High School now has successful basket-ball, baseball, and football teams for the boys and baseball and field hockey for the girls. At the Academy there are well established baseball, football and hockey teams. These teams are developing a calibre of play that places them on even terms with the teams of larger schools. The record of the Academy football team last year is proof of this fact. We are equally proud of the record of the Junior High Football team. Athletics under school control, form an integral part of the modern school. Parallel with mental health should be placed physical health.

The work of the Music department in Hampton is one of the strongest. It touches the lives of each of our pupils. From the first grade to the 12th the children are taught not only to sing but to enjoy singing, not only to listen to music but to interpret its meaning. In the first six grades rote songs, theory, text book material, time problems and folk dancing are studied. There are also remarkably accurate rhythm bands organized in the first and second grades. A recent addition to our music work, and one offered in many school systems, is the Music Appreciation course. Of this course Mrs. Coombs reports.

"In grade 8, pupils learn to distinguish the tone color of all instruments in the Symphony Orchestra; form, in music; rhythmic, full-chord and contra-puntal accompaniment; various kinds of program music; oratoria and opera, as such; differing tone quality of the human voice; changes in rhythms and modes.

"In Grade 9 this type of work has been continued—a special study, however, being made of folk music of all nations, opera, ballet, lyric music and art songs. Lives of many of our Masters in Music have also been studied. The type of recitation has been definitely changed in this grade. Most of the recitations are planned and executed as programs, by committees of the pupils themselves. Through this plan pupils seem to be stimulated to bring in supplementary material found in current newspapers and in the library. Those most interested have constantly reported upon the best radio programs, which is very gratifying.

"The music of the Academy has been accomplished during the past year in three classes—besides Orchestra. The mixed chorus has been well balanced, with exceedingly good readers, especially among the boys. A Girls' Glee Club of three parts and Boys' of four parts have been maintained. A balanced program of classics and lighter music has been presented. I find a wholesome appreciation for the popular classics among our students, also a decidedly happy attitude of enjoyment for their work in connection with music."

On June 1 and 2 the New England Festival Association held its Annual Festival at Hampton Beach, the outstanding feature of which was the All-New England High School Symphony Orchestra. The festival included all three phases of school music—band, orchestra and glee club contests. These two days were days of inspiration for all people attending and bespeak the valuable work of the music instructors of New England. Local arrangements were in charge of our own principal Arthur C. Sears and our Music Instructor Mrs. Coombs.

Our school band and school orchestra continue to be a source of pride to the school and to the townspeople. Each of these groups furnishes to our children a zest for things of lasting value, a taste for the beautiful in life whether in music, art, literature or any of the allied activities. Such organizations become one of the best means of developing a community of interest among people of a social group. As training for the enjoyment of leisure, both now and in adult life, music activities are unsurpassed. With graduation next June we are losing some of our most proficient players—three of whom have been with the band since its original inception. This will offer an opportunity for several new players to enter this group. We urge all parents, who can possible do so to encourage their children to join the orchestra or band and thus receive the benefits of these institutions. Both are organizations favorably known, both within and without the state. Their work is continually improving in both instrumentation and in the type of work attempted. We believe the money spent for these organizations will be returned several fold in enjoyment of the children both now and in later years.

Modern education is attempting to prepare children for a complex civilization. It cannot follow one narrow path but must broaden its activities as adult life demands. The seven cardinal principles of education are printed below. These principles we are taking as our guide as we map out the varied activities of our school community.

1. Health.
2. Command of fundamental processes.
3. Worthy home membership.
4. Vocation.
5. Civic education.
6. Worthy use of leisure.
7. Ethical character.

These objectives can be reached only relatively but we shall continually strive for a nearer approach to them. The nearness of approach will depend upon several factors—a most efficient teaching staff in our schools, a unity of purpose among all school officials and the sympathetic support of parents and citizens.

As superintendent of schools I wish to express my appreciation to the school board for its ever helpful guidance in the duties of my work. Such help can have but one result; the continued improvement of the schools of Hampton.

Respectfully submitted,

ROY W. GILLMORE,

February 19, 1935. Superintendent of Schools.
